Sirs:

I have been informed that the USPTO is considering establishing a regional USPTO office site in Albuquerque, NM. I enthusiastically endorse the establishment of such an office. Albuquerque, NM, is the central location in NM for highly technical innovative activities resulting not only from the national laboratories (Sandia National Laboratories and Los Alamos National Laboratory) but also the USAF Weapons Laboratory and private companies such as Intel. The presence of these entities has spawned numerous venture-capital related enterprises throughout the area with a correspondingly high volume of innovative technologies requiring IP protection. The establishment of a USPTO presence in the area would greatly enhance the production of IP in this region.

Sincerely,
Elmer Klavetter
